Alumni Spotlight – Gabriela Ekoku

Former Rosebery student Gabriela Ekoku studied Psychology, English and Law at A Level before going on to university. She is currently in her final year studying English Literature at the University of Surrey. Alongside her studies she works as a Learning Support Assistant to develop her careers prospects within the teaching sector to qualify as an English teacher upon graduating in 2021.

Gabriela is still very much an active member of the Rosebery alumni community however her journey to get to where she is now was not always straightforward after year 13.

Here she shares her inspiring story with you to show that when things don't always go to plan to never give up.
